STIPULATION OF
EXPECTED TESTIMONY

DAS James Moore

27 June 2013

(U) It is hereby agreed by the Accused, Defense Counsel, and Trial Counsel, that if Deputy Assistant Secretary (DAS) James Moore were present to testify during the merits and pre-sentencing phases of this court-martial, he would testify substantially as follows.

1. (U) The United States Department of State (DoS) is led by the Secretary of State. There are six Under Secretary Offices that work for the Secretary of State. One of those Under Secretaries is for Political Affairs. The Under Secretary of Political Affairs serves as the day-to-day manager of overall regional and bilateral policy issues. The Under Secretary of Political Affairs oversees seven bureaus which are headed by Assistant Secretaries. Those bureaus are African Affairs, European and Eurasian Affairs, East Asian and Pacific Affairs, Near Eastern Affairs, South and Central Asian Affairs, Western Hemisphere Affairs, and International Organizations. The Assistant Secretaries of the geographic bureaus and offices advise the Under Secretary and guide the operation of the US diplomatic missions within their regional jurisdiction. Each bureau has a Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary (PDAS) and several Deputy Assistant Secretaries. The Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary is the lead Deputy Assistant Secretary, all of which assist the Assistant Secretary in the development and management of US policy concerning their geographic bureau, including preparing all paperwork, background information, disciplinary issues, and policy directives.

2. (U) I have been with DoS since 1984. I am currently in training and transitioning to assume the duties as Chief of Mission to the Dutch Caribbean where I will serve as the Consul General to Curacao. Prior to this, I was a Deputy Assistant Secretary (DAS) of the Bureau of South and Central Asia Affairs until May 2013. I oversee all public diplomacy in South and Central Asia, including Fulbright scholars, cultural programs, and speaker programs. While serving as a DAS, I was a part of the WikiLeaks Working Group. From 2009 to 2010, I was the Deputy Director and Acting Director of the Office of Career Development and Assignments in the Bureau of Human Resources. I was the representative for Foreign Service assignments. From 2006 to 2009, I was the Deputy Chief of Mission (DCM) of U.S. Embassy in Sri Lanka. I managed the embassy, conducted foreign relations, and promoted the advocacy of U.S. policy. From 2003 to 2006, I was the Minister Counselor for Public Affairs at the Embassy in Ankara, Turkey. I was the representative for DoS public diplomacy programs and served as a spokesperson. From 2002 to 2003, I attended the Senior Seminar, which is an interagency process and leadership course. From 1999 to 2002, I served in Quito, Ecuador as the public affairs officer and Buenos Aires, Argentina, from 1995 to 1999 as the cultural affairs officer. From 1993 to 1994, I worked assignments for South Asia and Near East Affairs (NEA). From 1990 to 1993, I was the cultural affairs officer in Chennai, India. From 1988 to 1990, I was the public affairs officer in Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates (UAE). From 1986 to 1988, I was the cultural affairs officer in Karachi, Pakistan. From 1985 to 1986, I was the assistant cultural affairs officer in Cairo, Egypt. I have completed Turkish language training, Arabic language training, and Spanish language training while at DoS. I have a Master's Degree in International Relation from Georgetown University Foreign Service School.

3. (U) The mission of the Bureau of South and Central Asian Affairs is to promote U.S. foreign policy interests, including strong democratic governance, human rights, development, and trade and investment. The following countries comprise the Bureau of South and Central Asian Affairs: India, Bangladesh, Nepal, Sri Lanka, Maldives, Bhutan, Kyrgyzstan, Kazakhstan, Turkmenistan, Uzbekistan, and Tajikistan.

4. (U) The embassies communicate what is occurring in the host nations through many different means. Issuing a cable is an official communication by the Embassy or organization. Typically, the Ambassador or Deputy Chief of Mission (DCM) sign off as the originator on the cables because they contain the official position of the embassy or organization. Generally, cables are issued to summarize meetings and note significant events in the host country, and often contain the analysis and comment of the author. The cables are issued via the distribution captions, one of which is SIPDIS. The SIPDIS caption indicates that a cable is approved for SIPRNET distribution for access by appropriately cleared individuals across numerous US government agencies and departments. Classified cables containing the SIPDIS caption are available to all users of SIPRNET and JWICS to share information with interested agencies and departments in the United States government. Originators could limit distribution to DoS personnel only (STATEDIS) or even limit distribution to the recipient of the document (NODIS).
